Introduction

Redefining Success Together.

Maximum transparency, fully community-driven and focus on the public good. BlockRock is a unique crypto community project aimed at reducing the power of large investors in the markets and distributing the resulting profits to the broader population. To achieve this, BlockRock is fully managed and controlled by the investors themselves, with all decisions made collectively and democratically.

With an organized community and the resulting mass intelligence, we can increase the influence and also generate more profits than individuals.

Our System

Transaction Fees

The transaction fees will be collected in the investment wallets weekly. The addresses of the wallets are public.

Discussions

New projects and investment opportunities are sought, proposed and discussed in the community (e.g. cryptocurrencies, staking, yield farming).

The community then has one week to discuss the individual proposals. If a proposal receives positive feedback from the community, it is submitted to the team.

Researches

All proposals submitted by the community are discussed, evaluated, reviewed and approved by the team members. A certain number of investment opportunities are then released for voting.

Votings

The community decides weekly by majority vote in which projects the collected transaction fees should be invested. We have our own DApp for our votes. Here you can participate anonymously in our votes.

Profits

Blockrock is a long-term investor and invests with an eye to the future. Profits will be realized in the next bull run. Profit taking is also determined by the community. In addition to investments, we also generate profits through marketing and many other businesses.

Buybacks & Burns

All earnings are used for buybacks and burns or for reinvestments. The community also decides on this by majority vote. Through the buybacks and burns, we achieve a price increase from which everyone benefits equally.
